

Hernando Muñoz Sanchez

Biographical Sketch

Dean (Current position)

Faculty of Social and Human Sciences (programs comprised of sociology, psychology, history, anthropology and social. And the psychoanalysts Department) University of Antioquia-Medellin, Colombia. Elected in a process of consultation, after occupying for three years the position of vice-dean, with broad support of professors and students and in the end by unanimous vote of the superior council of the University.

Associate Professor (titular) of the Social Work Department, School of Social and Human Sciences. Researcher and activist on issues of family, gender and minority rights. National and international lecturer.

Social and political leader in the city. Has won several awards: 2012: Order of Merit Don Juan del Corral, gold category Awarded by the City Council. Recognition for outstanding work in defense of human rights and great social leadership. City Council of Medellin, and others from public and private institutions.

Recently, August 2017, he published his book: Becoming Men
Graduate and Undergraduate Education:

PhD: Gender Perspective in Social Sciences. Complutense University of Madrid, Spain.

Master in Cooperation and Development. University of Barcelona. Barcelona.

Specialization program in Social Research Theories, Methods and Techniques
University of Antioquia.

Specialization program in Family Social Work. Pontifical Bolivariana University.

Social Worker. Pontifical Bolivariana University.

Lic. Educational Management and Supervision. University of La Sabana.

Visión for IASSW

I present my nomination for a new period, because I consider that one is not enough to know the organization and to carry out the proposed ones. By the experience of having the meeting of the board in Medellin in 2015, that Latin America have a lot to contribute in the development of the curriculum at the global level.

I firmly believe in the need we currently articulate betting spaces and goals around the training of social workers in the world. I am convinced of the importance of education and training through it of citizens. subjects ethical and political, so it seems to me very important the existence of an organization like IASSW. In an increasingly globalized world there must be a meeting place that allows us to maintain a broad view, debate, discussion, building consents jointly put into the public arena the different discourses on education in social work, which are essential in the commitment to the transformation of society towards justice and equality for all human beings. It is necessary now more than ever that an organization like ours Eastern, to rule and propose with all the wisdom and creative actions for transformation and social justice.

From IASSW is very important the contribution to improving the quality of curricula, enriching them with the international exchange of conscious and clear analysis of the mission of social work in the world. And today, for the social work in Colombia is very important the support of an organization like the IASWS for the process that is living of post conflict, and all the support from many programs, we need many hands to advance, and, in these days in the areas where the demobilized guerrillas are, I have verified the importance of our profession and the contribution of the academy in this historical moment.

Similarly, I look interested in opening new fields of social work education in the context of Human Rights, the look to new social movements and issues arising from the struggles that have brought contemporary social problems. Topics such as respect and inclusion of Sexual Diversity in our fields of study, such as gender, emphasizing masculinity and political education, among others. If we cannot give face to these situations, I believe that our mission will be poor. The idea is to promote a global perspective from interdependence, support and cooperation, with deep respect for the specificities of each context, At the meetings of the board, I have had the experience of listening and being listened to, listening from this side of the look of social work, thinking from Latin America.